

pat terry in concert

When singer/songwriter Pat Terry takes the stage, he brings his history with him. In the seventies he emerged as one of Contemporary Christian Music's pioneers, recording seven albums and performing live across the country with his acoustic trio, The Pat Terry Group. As a soloist in the eighties, he wrote and recorded three more groundbreaking albums that redefined his sound and blazed new creative trails. The nineties found Pat writing songs for some of Nashville's biggest hitmakers, including Travis Tritt, Tanya Tucker, Kenny Chesney, and John Anderson. And today, with the recent release of his latest CD, "Laugh For A Million Years", he continues his tradition of creating music that aims high and connects in a deeply soulful way. Presented in an intimate solo/acoustic format, Pat's concerts showcase his lyrical writing style, wry sense of humor, and passionate, yet down-home delivery.

Pat's currently accepting bookings in small to mid-sized halls, church auditoriums, acoustic clubs, and listening rooms. Smaller, more intimate "house concerts" are also being scheduled on a limited basis. Interested in bringing Pat to your community or performance venue? Let us help you make it happen!
